

Elddis Avanté 626 £15,395

AT A GLANCE:
Big family accommodation

Another six-plus metre caravan - this time on a twin axle. This caravan has the biggest living area of any 2010 Elddis Avanté. Its body shell is the same size as the 624 but, where that caravan is a four-berth (ideally a spacious two-berth) with the space given over to a luxurious bedroom and washroom, this one squeezes the bed and washroom into the end of the caravan, giving acres of lounge and dining room. It also has a side dinette which converts into two bunks, with a generous-sized kitchen opposite.

Elddis Crusader Aurora £16,995

AT A GLANCE: Four
berths, this time,
with an end fixed bedroom...

It's really nice to see that Elddis Crusaders have retained their dark half-depth doors this year which make them very distinctive and stylish. This particular model benefits from the Elddis decision to lengthen one of the front settees this year to make the single bed options more versatile for families - there really is plenty of space for an adult to stretch out on the right hand side of the caravan's lounge.

Gas struts support the cavernous storage area under the bed of course and, because the bed is on the side, there's an external door into the storage area, which is a big plus. The wardrobe has two large compartments - one hanging compartment and a floor height cupboard, and there's a sideboard housing the Truma blown air heater plus two generous cupboards and a drawer. Though this might be a little low for food preparation, it's very useful overflow space from the kitchen. And the Venetian blinds to the bedroom can be folded away to give a viewing hatch if you're watching TV in bed.
